The matrix of controls visited is on the next page.

After planning the YBT event in March this year, I was left with around 35 surplus Blue Course maps. As that course had to bounce around the area to get the required distance, it looked almost ideal for a WEE. I had to introduce one modification to put the start by the registration area at the café, and another when I found that control #12 was now inaccessible, inside the current goat enclosure. The goats are employed at the park to keep vegetation in check, so we shouldn't really complain.

My thanks to the staff at the park for their assistance, and to control collectors Marian, Alex, Kerstin, Robert, Andy H, Martin and the boys.
