Organiser Comments

Thanks to all who attended - the weather dried up a bit in time for the event itself, but I know the flooding caused some issues with getting there, so well done (especially John, who spent two hours in the car to bring the kit!)

There appears to have been an element of ambiguity on some of the answers to the clues, and on occasions people answered a different question to the one being asked. I've taken the approach that if more than one person has got the same answer then I've allowed it, but if you're the only one to have a particular answer to a question then I'm afraid I've disallowed it, which will have affected final standings slightly. Please feel free to complain and propose a fairer method!

Cheers,
Rob
