

Aston University Night Street Event

10/3/2016 - Results

	Name	Class	Club	Points	Time	Penalty	Total	Comment
Short	Bob Scott	M65	HOC	100	40.07	0	100
	Colin Palmer	M70	HOC	100	46.22	0	100
	Olivia, Jamie, Holly	MW21	Aston Uni	100	47.33	0	100
Medium	Robert Rose	M35	HOC	230	56.45	0	230
60 min score	Clive Caffall	M55	HOC	210	59.00	0	210
	Fred Miller	M60	NATO	180	58.45	0	180
	Robert Vickers	M70	HOC	170	59.19	0	170
	Ray Collins	M60	WCH	160	51.21	0	160
	Mick Sadler	M65	COBOC	160	55.27	0	160
	Christine Collins	W55	WCH	130	60.30	85	45	missing 4
	Long	John Leeson	M55	HOC	310	70.44	0	310
80 min score	Peter Langmaid	M45	HOC	290	77.19	20	270	missing 1
	Andy Hemsted	M65	HOC	250	79.51	0	250
	Hannah Hine	W21	Aston Uni	290	85.12	52	238
	Jonathon Howell	M60	WCH	220	69.48	0	220
	Emils Vainovskis	M21	Aston Uni	340	92.39	127	213

Thanks to all for coming to the event and well done for finding it as I had given up trying to give any meaningful directions, such is the state of upheaval on Birmingham's road network at the moment.

In the few days leading up to the event there were closures to two pedestrian footpaths which were on obvious route choices leading to manual map amendments and the wholesale removal of all the lampposts (and thus one control) in a particular road.

Birmingham has massive potential for a proper urban and everyone agreed that it was great to run through as part of the Night Street League. However, it does have a major dual-carriageway cutting through the area. Consequently, in the interests of safety, I displayed the map and courses prior to the start so that everyone could appraise themselves of the safe crossing points for their courses.

Also, although I had made it clear in advance what the penalty would be for late return on the medium and long courses, I hadn't made it clear what the penalty would be for missing a compulsory control. In the end I settled on 20 points as a mere 10 point penalty could have made a tactical swap of controls, look attractive.