

Clent Hills June Jaunter - 24th June 2010 - Results

Robert Vickers

An innovation for the June Jaunter this year was the introduction of SI electronic timing. This enabled some more interesting detail to be produced in the results, since split times could be recorded at the three checkpoints, enabling analysis of clockwise and anti-clockwise route choices. The detail will be published on the HOC website for your delectation.

My thanks go to Peter Langmaid for marshalling the Four Stones: I relied on the security of zip ties to attach the SI units to the other checkpoints on Walton Hill Trig point and the gate by Clent Church. My faith was rewarded, as there was no interference with the units.

A couple more runners tackled the Clent Hills than last year, enjoying a glorious evening which encouraged them to stay around discussing their routes and performances in the evening sunshine.

Victory this year went again to Richard Dearden, for the fourth year running, but alas another 46 seconds slower than in 2009. It would appear that Richard's prospects of challenging Barry Parkinson's long standing record are receding further, as the advancing years take their toll like the rest of us...

...however, Andy Plante bucked the trend, recording an improvement of more than 2 minutes since last year. It was good to see Dale Faulkner making a creditable first attempt.

The SI print for Jenny Uff registered an anomalous start time, and I suspect it had not cleared properly. Hence her recorded time does not include the first leg up to Walton Hill. Sorry, Jenny.

Thank you all for supporting this traditional HOC event, and my thanks to Charlie Nelson for looking after the shop while I made my own venture over the hills.

Don't forget there is a complete spreadsheet of all known June Jaunter times on the HOC website. If you can help with any missing data, please let me know.
