Phew what a scorcher! Russ Fauset had initially planned this event, but a clash with his daughter's degree ceremony had left him unable to run it on the day. As I hadn't done any event planning this year I offered to take it on. On one of the hottest days of the year so far putting out the controls was warm work, and it didn't cool down much in the evening. Luckily Robert had worked his charm on the golf club and welcome refreshment was available at the bar.

Although a small area, Burlish Top offers a variety of terrain with the more open areas at either side of the old military site and the woodland across the road. The grid of paths in the centre make it quite easy to commit parallel errors if one's not careful. There was some close competition on Green and it was good to see some new faces who'd had a taste of orienteering at one of our Saturday morning (or winter evening) events and came back for more.

Unfortunately we managed to attract the attentions of the local pyromaniacs, who tested one of the kites for fire-resistance (they're not).
