Thanks for coming to this first orienteering event at Red House, for taking part, or helping, or both. It's a lovely park which I've spent many happy (!) hours exercising in.

Sorry about the confusion about controls 97 and 90. People were finding #97 okay until someone parked right in front of it, but it would've been more helpful if I'd described the control site as road end rather than fence. The map is a work in progress and hopefully next time you come it'll be an expanded area, including more of the land on the other side of the motorway.
