Uurgh! Such unpleasant weather that possibly led to a number of Harlequins being unable to get to Hartlebury on time to start and for those that did make it, the joy of being drenched and blown around by the strong winds. My early tent raising skills better resembled giant kit flying, complete with flailing poles.

Well done and thank you to all those who turned up to run. I think I may have had second thoughts had I been running.

Thanks to all those who helped pack up and for their assistance retrieving controls. AMJ
